last night

we caught a cab to the GoMA with the keyboard, Amps, & guitar, and arrived when the gallery was full of people. They were young & hip, and they looked through the work very seriously—and I alone knew how loose the work was. Great & loose & now transformed into digestables. The switch was flipped and the lights came on, and everything was Art. Yes, it is like a book—words, on paper, set in stone. I'm in Curler's Rest on Byres Road drinking, thinking, thanking my lucky STARS.
